

When it comes to wood production, your specialized federation is there for you!

Fédération des producteurs forestiers du Québec: the voice of woodlot owners and wood producers in Quebec

The federation's actions are backed up by thousands of wood producers in the regions, who are active members of their regional syndicates. The federation, working hand in hand with its affiliated regional syndicates, can defend shared positions on wood marketing issues and private forest development. For example, it has succeeded in getting managed forests recognized as immovable property, which allows municipalities to lower the tax rates on private woodlots.

The federation is affiliated with the Union des producteurs agricoles (UPA) and the Canadian Forest Owners. It can count on these strong allies to ensure that policy makers pay attention to its concerns.

Visit our website and those of our regional affiliates to find out more about the activities and services offered to woodlot owners.

By becoming a member of your specialized syndicate, you can:

- Get directly involved in wood production issues and contribute to the sector's development and prosperity;
- Make your issues and concerns known at the regional and provincial levels;
- Influence the directions taken by your organization and the industry;
- Prioritize collective action to support wood production and its development;
- Be part of a network of wood producers as passionate as you are!

Quick facts on the joint plan

The purpose of the joint plan is to ensure everyone gets the same price for wood of equal quality. How it works:

- Exclusive marketing of wood for pulp and paper and panel board. In some regions, this also applies to saw timber;
- Collective bargaining with wood processing plants;
- Allotment system for wood production;
- Organization of wood transport and equalization of transport costs;
- Guaranteed payments to producers;
- Information on marketing conditions.

There are 13 different regional marketing boards for wood producers, each with distinctive features.
